SHANGHAI AMERICAN SCHOOL “THE FIRST 100”

International schools tend to have short “institutional memories.” This was true at Shanghai American School (SAS), where our students had won an impressive amount of Asia Pacific Activities Conference (APAC) Championships. Yet no one knew how many we’d won, since record-keeping was highly incomplete. By researching the results, we discovered SAS was quickly closing in on our 100th APAC Championships. In the spring of 2018, the 100th APAC Championship was won, and to commemorate, a poster was created that documented each championship the school had won.

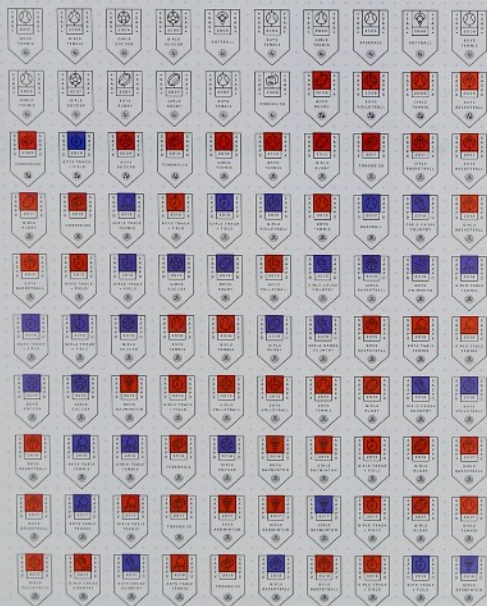

Now, all teams that win championships at SAS are given a “Next 100” pin with the corresponding chronological number of their championship. It serves to remind them that at SAS, they’re part of a bigger story.
